THE LAST GOOD NIGHT.

BY MISS ELLEN GRAY.

Close the eye-lids—press them gently,
O'er the dead and laden eyes;
For the soul that made them lovely
Has returned into the skies.
Wipe the death drop from her forehead;
Sever one dear golden tress;
Fold her icy hands all meekly,
Smooth the little snowy dress;
Scatter flowers so pure and white—
Lay the bud upon her bosom
There—now softly say Good Night.

Though our tears flow fast and faster,
Yet we would not call her back;
We are glad her feet no longer
Tread life's rough and thorny track;
We are glad our heavenly father
Took her while her heart was pure;
We are glad he did not leave her
All life's trouble to endure.
We are glad—and yet the tear drop
Falleth; for, alas! we know
That our fireside will be lonely,
We shall miss our darling so.

While the twilight shadows gather,
We shall wait in vain to feel
Little arms, all white and dimpled,
Round our necks so softly steal;
Our wet cheeks will miss the pressure
Of sweet lips, so warm and red;
And our bosoms, sadly, sadly
Miss that darling little head,
Which was wont to rest there sweetly;
And those golden eyes so bright—
We shall miss their loving glances—
We shall miss their soft Good Night.

When the morrow's sun is shining,
They will take their cherished form;
They will bear it to the church yard,
And consign it to the worm.
Well—what matter? it is only
The clay dress our darling wore;
God has robed her as an angel—
She has need of this no more.
Fold her hands, and o're her pillow
Scatter flowers all pure and white;
Kiss that marble brow, and whisper,
Once again, a last Good Night.

A Man Restored to Life after Burial for Ten Months.—The subjoined extract is translated from the Paris Journal of Magnetism, which quotes as its authority, a very remarkable book, published by Mr. Osborne, an English officer, on his return from the Court of Runjeeting, in India. We must also add, that Gen. Ventura, who was one of the witnesses in this extraordinary transaction, testified to the correctness of the statement when he subsequently visited Paris. Mr. Osborne says:

"On the 6th of June, 1828, the monotony of our life in camp was agreeably interrupted by the arrival of an individual who had acquired great celebrity in the Pendjab. The natives regarded him with great veneration, on account of the facility he possessed in remaining under ground as long as he pleased, and then reviving again. Such extraordinary facts were related in the country, concerning this man, and so many respectable persons testified to their authenticity, that we were extremely desirous of seeing him; for instance: Capt. Wade, of Lodhiana, informed me that he had himself been present at the resurrection of this Fakir, in the presence of Gen. Ventura, the Rajah, and several men of distinction among the natives, and that after his interment had lasted several months."

The following are the details which were given him of the interment, and those that he added on his own authority of the examination:

"At the end of some preparations which had lasted several days, and which would be too tedious to enumerate, the Fakir declared himself ready for the experiment; the witnesses around a tomb of mason-work, constructed expressly to receive him. Before their eyes the Fakir closed with wax (with the exception of his mouth) the apertures of his body through which air might be admitted; then he stripped off all his clothing. He was then enclosed in a linen bag, and by his direction his tongue was turned back, so as to enclose the entrance of his throat. Immediately after this operation the Fakir fell into a lethargic state. The bag which contained him was then closed and sealed by the Rajah. The sack was then placed in a wooden box, which was locked with a padlock, and sealed. The box was lowered in the tomb, over which was thrown a great quantity of earth, which was trampled down and then sown with barley; finally sentinels were set to watch it day and night. Notwithstanding all these precautions the Rajah still was suspicious; he came twice during the ten months that the Fakir remained buried, and caused the tomb to be examined, he found the Fakir precisely as he had left him, and perfectly cold and inanimate.

The ten months having expired, they proceed to the final examination. Gen. Ventura and Captain Wade saw the padlock opened, the seals broken and the chest raised from the tomb. The Fakir was removed; there was no indication of the heart or pulse. In the top of his head there remained some slight sensation of heat—After first placing the tongue in a natural position, and then pouring warm water over his body, he began to evince some signs of life. After two hours he was quite restored and walked about. This wonderful man is about thirty years of age, his figure is unpleasant and his countenance has a cunning expression.

He says that he had delicious dreams during his interment, and that restoration was very painful to him."

Death of Gov. Poindexter.—George Poindexter died at Jackson, Mississippi, on Monday last. His political career has been one of much distinction. His talents were of the highest order. He wrote and spoke upon all public questions with a degree of fluency, precision and force that has rarely been equalled in this country. He represented the territory of Mississippi in Congress for several years, and at one time filled the office of Governor, by the appointment of President Madison. In 1830, he received the appointment of Senator in Congress from the Governor of Mississippi, to fill a vacancy occasioned by death; and subsequently he was chosen by the Legislature to serve out the unexpired term. He retired from the Senate in 1835, and never afterwards took part in national affairs—unless his services as a member of the Custom House Commission formed an exception. Gov. Poindexter participated in the protracted and very able debate which sprung up on Mr. Van Buren's nomination as Minister to England, and his speech on that occasion was unsurpassed in vigor, point and effect. In early life he was a supporter of Gen. Jackson, but in later years he quarrelled with, and became an inveterate opponent of, the Old Hero, withdrew from the democratic ranks, joined the whigs, advocated a re-charter of the United States Bank, and supported whig measures generally. Gen. Jackson charged him with instigating the attack which a crazy man, named Lawrence, made upon Old Hickory at the Capitol, and their quarrel assumed so virulent a character, that a duel between them was at one time anticipated as the only means of adjusting it.—Buff. Com. Adv.

Weather Vaticination.—Mr. Ryan has sent in to the Marshal Expounder his usual bulletin in regard to the kind of weather that may be expected during the fall months. Here it is:

Freedom, Washtenaw Co. Sept. 1.

"Brother farmers God has been pleased to visit us with a dry summer—he has been also equally pleased to give us a good growing fall; farmers, our summer fallows have been more than usual behind; crowd in your wheat; late sown wheat will do well, so far as the fall is concerned, all you have to fear is cold easterly rain storms; S. E. wind will prevail, with some shifts N. N. W. then cold. I would say to mariners, look out for E. N. E. storms until first of December next; I will than be able to say how much next winter will differ from last.—Wm. W. Ryan.

"P. S. The 15th of November I will be able to say how many snows we will have until the first of March next. I will send you a statement of the winter, the first of December next.

W. W. R.

☞ The Indiana American informs us that the Ohio and Indiana divisions of the Cincinnati, Indianapolis and Chicago Road have been consolidated, making the entire line one interest and one stock. Mr. E. M. Gregory, a well-known banker of this city, is the President. Large subscriptions to the stock have been made in real estate. The location has finally been made, right of way obtained, and the work is to be let shortly. The engineer, Sprague, has resigned, and his place is vacant.—Cincinnati Com.

Blacklegs.—The city of Detroit is at present invested and overrun with blacklegs, probably to a greater extent than ever before. Within two blocks from the main corners, in all four directions, on the main streets, there are at least eight rooms where faro banks or "tigers" are going night, day, and Sunday, and into which men are enticed and robbed, swindled and fleeced constantly. These things are so, and as the Grand Jury is now in session, it seems a good opportunity to make the fact known.

Unloading Hay—A Load at a Time.—This is easily done, and saves a world of hard work. On commencing the mow a web or piece of network, made of small rope, and resembling in appearance the cording of a bed stead, is spread over the bottom of the wagon, and the hay is loaded on it, until the load is about one half on, when another web, similar to the first, is spread over the top of that, and the remainder of the load is placed on it. On arriving at the barn, a rope which passes through a pulley; suspended to the ridge directly over the mow in which the hay is to be placed, and extends down to the windlass, is fixed to the outer edges of the uppermost web, and then by means of the small windlass which is placed at the side of the floor, a man, the driver of the team, can elevate that half of the load which is above the web over the beam, and drop it into the mow, in the short space of two minutes. The hay is dropped by unhitching one of the hooks that connects the rope with the web by means of a small cord which is attached to them, and runs down to the windlass, so that the man there can drop it wherever he pleases. The windlass, rope, &c., can be removed from one barn to another in a few moments, so that one set will answer for any number of barns. Only one man is required to go from the field to the barn, as the hay being dropped in various parts of the mow, needs no mowing away, except an occasional leveling, which may generally be done in wet weather. With its assistance one man can unload a ton with more ease in five minutes, than two men could have done in forty five with forks. The whole apparatus may cost about $15.

Pocket Picked.—We learn that a Mr. Bagley, of this city, while on his passage to Buffalo, on board the Ocean, last Tuesday, had his state room entered and his pocket book, with $100 in money and a large amount of drafts, stolen.—When the boat was near the place where the Atlantic lies, his companion went out, leaving the state room door unlocked, when it is supposed that one of the chevalier d'industrie, who are constantly on the watch for chances, entered and made the seizure. The loss in money is not heavy, and the payment of the drafts being stopped, they would prove of no use.—Detroit Adv.

☞ The Quebec Morning Chronicle says the Americans want Cuba and Canada, and adds:—"Canada is going fast to them. Our lumber goes to New York, our flour and cattle to Boston or Portland, and our steamships go to Portland in the winter, and it must be borne in mind that a commercial is the most solid of all political annexations. Canada is already part and parcel of the United States, and we are sorry at it. Nothing but a rush of immigration can save us. The tide of public opinion and of public power is on the turn. Loyalty to Great Britain is on the ebb."

THE PACIFIC RAILROAD AND THE DEMOCRACY.

A sad spectacle is now presented to those unfortunate beings whose [illegible] of whose inclination [illegible] the Democratic papers of the land. It's always painful to see brethren at war, and the sight of the manner in which our Democratic friends are at present growing over the subject of the Pacific Railroad and the side issues which grow out of it, is anything but agreeable. We are somewhat surprised that there should be any quarrel between them upon this or any other subject, inasmuch as they have one grand rallying ground, upon which they all agree that all good Democrats should stand. No one is ignorant that the Baltimore Platform is held up, by the leaders of the Democracy as containing all that is necessary for any good Democrat to believe, and as being a political creed or confession of faith, the cordial acceptance of which was sufficient to ensure their political salvation. Bearing this in mind, it is not a little wonderful that the Democrats should forget how delightful unity is, and at their little handle were never made to tear each other's eyes out, but it is very true, and 'pity 'tis 'tis true' that they have forgotten, and that they are just now engaged in the warmest kind of fight upon a very grave political question, one, too, which the Baltimore Platform ought to at once settle their controversy. Some of them contend that a construction of the constitution, permitting certain appropriations and grants in order to construct great works of public improvement, is orthodox and Democratic, while the other faction declares that such constructions are Whiggish, heretical and horrible. And as both parties claim the Baltimore Platform as their platform, and insist that their views are in accordance with its teachings, we see no way in which they can decide the controversy, unless they can manage to obtain a direct revelation from the throne itself, upon the subject. And even then, as the decrees emanating from this Oracle are not exactly of the unchangeable character of the laws of the Medes and Persians, they would be very justifiable in refusing to pin their faith upon a foundation which "unstable as water shall not excel."

The Baltimore Platform expressly declares that it is not Democratic to believe that Congress is authorized by the Constitution to commence and carry out any system of internal improvement. This, both factions admit, but then the Young America portion enters a demurrer and declares that this article of faith did not mean to have any reference to the Pacific Railroad. This enterprise is so gigantic, say they, that the Platform had no reference to it. It did not contemplate the possibility of such a road being needed. This rather specious philosophy the strict constructionists are slow to receive and so the matter stands—"clear as mud."

The feud will continue, we suppose, until the President's Message shall pronounce the decree of fate, and then, we shall see them, like well trained spaniels, drop their bone of contention, and join in one long, loud and harmonious cry, as they commence the pursuit of whatever hobby Mr. Pierce shall set before them.

THE PACIFIC RAILROAD.

Septimus Means, Civil and Mechanical Engineer, of Philadelphia, has published an estimate, carefully prepared, of the cost of running a through train, on this road when completed.

According to this computation, the cost of running a passenger train, from St. Louis to San Francisco, with 200 passengers, distance 2,000 miles, will be $8650 18, which sum includes every expense of motive power, wages of employees, and the interest on the cost of engines and cars. The cost for each passenger for the 2,000 miles would be $4,30, or a small fraction over two mills per mile.

From this estimate, the road would pay 8 1-10 per cent on a capital of $100,000,000, for passengers alone. In all cases, large allowances have been made, and in no instance can the cost exceed the estimate. The allowance of only four hundred passengers daily between the two points—St. Louis and San Francisco—is a low estimate of travel. The revenue from freights, mails and gold, would swell the receipts to a much larger amount.

Mr. M. has no hesitation in saying that the road, if built, will pay much better than any of the New York Roads.

THE CARSON LEAGUE.

The N. Y. Tribune of Thursday, contains a letter from L. L. Carson, the originator of the new Temperance confederacy, in which he elucidates its objects and principles.

The object of the The Carson League is the abolition of Dram Shops and utter extermination of the Rum trade. It proposes to do this by combining the Moneyed power, the Political power, and the Legal power, of the State.—The following is its plan:

1. Each member of the League gives the amount of his property on the assessment roll, or as much as he will, to be assessed pro rata for the prosecution of all violations of Excise Laws. Taxed for Rum's doings they must be. Let them be taxed to fine and imprison the murderers, of their families, rather than to countenance and support these murderers, and to defray the expense of the imprisonment and ruin of their own children.

2. Through the ballot-box the League is pledged to get possession of all the offices in the Towns, Counties and State that by them the prohibition of the trade may be accomplished, and that they be not embarrassed in their efforts.—Without the Legislature, we cannot have the Maine Law. Without Judges and Jurors, Sheriffs and Constables, District Attorneys and Poor-Masters, nothing can be done to execute such law, or any other for the prohibition of this trade. Any man who has not this end at heart is not fit to hold office.

3. The Legal Power. This is virtually included in the above. Without the Judiciary all Temperance laws are unavailing. It is to be had through the ballot-box, and to be set in motion by means of the moneyed power of the Counties and States.

The League forms a Joint-Stock Company, any persons being allowed to become a member by taking one or more shares of the Capital stock. The following is the form of the note given by the members for the Stock.

For Value Received, I promise to pay the Treasurer of the Carson League of the County of .... for the Suppression of Rumselling, ... Dollars payable to pro-rata assessments on the whole stock of said Company, not to exceed, in any one year, fifty cents on a thousand dollars, according to the provisions of their Constitution.

The League is not wholly an experiment. It has been tried with success in various counties of New York. Leagues have been formed in nine several counties of that State, with capitals varying from $6,000,000 to $100,000. Mr. Carson says that in all of them where the League has been faithfully administered, they have been eminently successful. In Yates County, it has almost entirely rid the county of every alcoholic plague spot. Wherever the friends have faithfully paid in their assessment (which with the exception of Ontario, has in no instance exceeded 50 cents on the $1,000,) the legal power through the prosecuting agents has done, or is admirably accomplishing the work. Rumsellers and politicians are appalled and rebuked by it. When the assessments have been promptly paid, as in the County of Onondaga, though much is done, the work has been lamentably delayed.

Three prisoners have lately made their escape from the Indiana Penitentiary at Jeffersonville, one on last Saturday night, and two on Sunday night.

FATHER BRIGHTHOPES; or An Old Clergyman's Vacation. [illegible]

A[illegible] children [illegible] wholesome [illegible] entertaining [illegible] One [illegible] merit [illegible] little [illegible] who wish to refine and elevate the minds of the young. It is not written in that babyish, nursery style, which too often pervades books intended for juvenile readers, and which render them distasteful, not only to adults, but even to well informed and intelligent children. No error is more common than the foolish one, as to imagine that books and readers for children should be brought down to their capacity,—we should on the contrary, teach them to look upward and [illegible]. We all remember the story of the little girl, who returned home displeased with a sermon to children, to which she had listened, because the minister "talked to them just as if they were little babies" and we often have sympathized with her, in listening to juvenile discourses and glancing over juvenile books. The present work, as we have intimated, is not one of this class, and even "children of a larger growth" will find pleasure in its perusal. For sale by D. B. Cook & Co., 135 Lake St.

[illegible heading]

Under the assuming name of "Lorenzo Benoni," we have in the present volume, the memoirs of a celebrated Italian Patriot, Giovanni Ruffini, a native of Genoa, who having become entangled in the revolutions which distracted Italy in 1833 and 1833, made his escape in the latter part of that period to France, in which country and England he has since resided. He tells a tale of sorrow that has long been slumbering in his heart, with a pathos which is none the less impressive, for the conviction of truth which it carries with it. As a picture of the terrible and almost irresistable power of the Austrian tyranny, it is unequalled, and one's blood boils as we read the simple and unostentatious account of the sufferings which our author describes, and which he has himself shared. Considered merely as a literary production, the merits of this work are not inconsiderable. Its style is faultless and causes surprise that a foreigner should write English so well.

PERSONAL SKETCHES OF HIS OWN TIMES by Sir Jonah Barrington, Judge of the High Court of Admiralty in Ireland, &c. &c. Redfield, 110 and 112 Nassau St. New York.

A hasty cut and dip perusal of this book has delighted us, and we have laid it aside for future enjoyment at some leisure hour, if that epoch ever does arrive. The "sketches" are not what they might reasonably be imagined to be, from the high rank and title of the author, for they are neither lengthy, didactic, nor prosy, all of which qualities might be presumed rightfully to belong to the lucubrations of any "Judge of the High Court of Admiralty" who was infected with the scribbling mania. These "sketches" are however not only instructive, but well written, entertaining and not a little mirth provoking. Embracing many of the principal scenes of an eventful life, from 1760 to 1820, they possess at once variety and unity, as they trace the progress of the writer from the wild harum scarum Irish lad to the "potent, grave and reverent" ermined Judge.

THE POLITICAL AND MILITARY HISTORY OF THE CAMPAIGN OF WATERLOO. Translated from the French of General Baron De Jomini, by S. V. Benet, U. S. Ordnance. Redfield, [illegible] Nassau St. New York.

This volume originally appeared as the last part of General Jomini's great work, entitled "Vie Politique et Militaire de Napoleon," but is now published with some additions which it then lacked. As its title imports, it is a complete summary of the campaign of 1815, which resulted in that great and decisive battle of modern times, which settled the destiny of Europe for perchance half a century. The book, from its very subject, could not fail to be deeply interesting to every critical student of history and politics, and it is written in a style which adds much to its intrinsic attraction. The book is well printed and bound, and is enriched by an excellent map of that part of Belgium which was the scene of the campaign of Waterloo.

THE MURDER CASE IN LA SALLE COUNTY.

The Grand Jury, "inquiring in and for the body of the County of La Salle," have investigated the charge brought against John Thorne and eight other Irishmen, of the murder of Michael Cossadine on the 27th of June last, and find a somewhat curious verdict. They say that the wife of the murdered man and one Kelley were in the room at the time the murder was committed, and that, before the examining Magistrate, Mrs. Cossadine identified all these defendants as the murderers; but, upon being brought before the Grand Jury, both she and Kelley denied knowing anything about the matter, and that, although the Jury are fully satisfied in their own minds that these defendants are guilty of the murder of Cossadine, they can find no legal evidence to establish the fact. They further report that they believe that some powerful and dangerous influence has been brought to bear upon said witnesses to induce them to withhold and conceal their knowledge of the transaction, for the purpose of screening the said defendants from public justice. And so, we suppose these rioters and murderers will be allowed to go "unwhipped of justice."

THE YELLOW FEVER AT NEW ORLEANS, &C.

New Orleans papers of Saturday last are received.

The previous day was observed with a solemnity never before witnessed in New Orleans. The stores were all closed, business entirely suspended, and the whole city presented a scene of solemn gloom and mourning.

Government had granted the use of Fort Phillip for quarantine uses, and emigrant quarters would be established there immediately.

There were 37 deaths by Yellow Fever at Mobile on the 3d inst. The Register thinks there is as much sickness proportionately at Mobile as at New Orleans, although the deaths were fewer.

The ship Asia, which cleared from Mobile on the 27th ult. for Europe, had been driven ashore on Sand Island, and the vessel and cargo proved a total loss.

No extensive damage was anticipated from the rise of the rivers in South Carolina.

Capt. Morris, of the British ship Samuel, on which three slaves were recently found secreted, has been discharged from custody by the authorities of Norfolk the evidence clearing him from all knowledge of the presence of the slaves on his vessel.

DEPUTY MARSHAL GRAY, of Cincinnati, who, it will be remembered, committed an assault upon an attorney, in the court room, during the trial of Judge Flinn, for assault and battery, was brought up for trial on Friday last. He plead guilty, and was sentenced to two days imprisonment in the dungeon and ten dollars fine.

☞ By late advices from New York, we learn, that Miss Annie De Wolf, one of the sufferers by the Bay State disaster, is doing well and will recover. Miss Snow, another of the scalded, was sufficiently recovered to go home to Poughkeepsie, on Friday morning.

AN ASPIRING EDITOR.—Alexander F. Gray, editor of the Janesville Standard has been nominated for Secretary of State by the democratic Convention of Wisconsin.—Mr Gray, will probably be elected, but we are confident he could be a means of greater use in his present position than the one he aspires to. When editors become office seekers, they are very apt to become tricky and venal.—Of course, there may be exceptions and we hope Mr. G. may prove one.

VISITORS.—The editor of the Montreal Sun, dropped in upon us a few moments yesterday, having been attracted hither by the fame of our city and State. We were also visited by several other gentlemen from Canada, seeking information in reference to our railroads, and commercial statistics of Chicago. Being assured in reference to the healthy character of the city, they appeared to be much pleased with the evidences of active life in the business streets, and astonished at the almost unparalled growth of the city in population and wealth.

GOV. SEWARD.

The N. Y. Tribune of Friday emphatically denies the assertion which has been going the rounds of some of the New York papers, to the effect that "Mr. Seward will in no contingency be a nominee for the United States Senate. The Tribune may well be supposed to be in the confidence of Gov. Seward, as much at least as any other sheet, and its opinion upon this question is entitled to some respect.

But taking this for its text, the Tribune goes on to make the following remarks, upon the oft told theme of public offices and officers in which we heartily coincide, and to which we ask attention.

A prominent vice in our time is the universal tendency toward filling responsible places with timorous, inoffensive, negative, half-and-half men, whom nobody can be jealous of because they are nobody and amount to nothing. Hence we have not for years been able to elect a great man to the Presidency, but have set aside our Clay, Webster, Calhoun, &c., for—such as we have. We think this game has been about run into the ground as to Presidents, but it is likely to flourish a long time with regard to Governors, Congressmen, &c. Everybody realizes the degeneracy—knows that we have poorer sticks in exalted stations and feebler Congresses and Legislatures than we had twenty to fifty years ago. By and by the People will be roused into a revolt, and will set to work to redress the evil in the only practicable way—by kicking over party platforms, laying finger to nose at regular nominations, and voting for men of genuine grit and stamina even tho' they may act on every question of principle or policy accord with them. This is what we shall come to in the end—if the People are not now ready for it, we can wait. Perhaps it is best to let things run down as fast and as far as possible, so that the rebound may be more prompt and effective.

As for Gov. Seward, if a man of greater ability and energy can be chosen in his stead, we are quite willing to see him superseded. But we do not believe there is one chance in a million for this, and because we so think, we protest against his declining a reelection. That he does not seek or desire a reelection, is already known; but if the People should require his services for another term, we deny his moral right to refuse them.

We know it is said that Gov. Seward can exert no influence in the Senate because he is Anti Slavery. They who say this ought to know better; and if they don't we do. Our State has had no representative who has exerted a greater influence in the Senate, even among Members from that section of the Union which is supposed to regard an Abolitionist as if he were a mad dog. All this pro-Slavery fanaticism is but skin deep; none but those Southrons who have no other means of acquiring notoriety even affect it. The majority of Southrons respect a Northern man the more for his avowal of Anti-Slavery sentiments, finding therein a guaranty for his frankness, conscientiousness and integrity. And beside, it is something to be represented by a Senator whom Party did not make and cannot unmake—who proves by his speeches and his votes that in becoming a politician he did not cease to be a man, and who can be counted on to do right in defiance of popularity and ease—of present favor and prospective elevation. We protest against any declension of Gov. Seward in advance of his reelection.

TWO WEEKS LATER FROM CALIFORNIA.

By arrival of the "Star of the West," we have San Francisco dates up to the evening of Aug. 16th. She brought 560 passengers, $971,521 in dust on freight, and $500,000 in the hands of passengers.

A duel took place on the 3d ult., between Lieut. Wm. H. Scott, late of the U. S. Army and Lieut. Peter Smith, a gentleman who served with distinction in the Mississippi Regiment during the Mexican war, and afterwards a Major in the Cuban Expedition under Lopez. The cause of quarrel was of a trifling nature, and Lieut. Smith was the challenging party. Messrs George Davidson and Wm. F. Tilghman were the seconds. The parties fought with duelling pistols, at the distance of ten paces, and at the second fire Smith fell, the ball of his antagonist having passed through his neck. The wounded man lingered until the 7th inst., when he expired. He was about twenty four years of age, and the son of Judge Pinckney Smith of Mississippi.

On the afternoon of the 1st inst., a difficulty arose between two citizens, Dr. John Baldwin, an aged gentleman, formerly of Philadelphia, and Joseph Hetherington, formerly of St Louis, Mo., in which the former was shot and mortally wounded. The difficulty originated about the ownership of a lot of ground, to which both parties were claimants. Dr. Baldwin died on the 3d inst. Hetherington surrendered himself to the officers of the law, and was admitted to bail, but on the death of Baldwin, was committed to prison, since which he has been indicted by the Grand Jury for murder.

Week before last a bloody affair took place at the ranch of Thomas Pyle, near San Jose, in which four persons were engaged, one of whom was killed, and another wounded. Two neighbors of Mr. Pyle, named Whitlock and Dunham, visited the house of the latter and a quarrel arose, the causes of which are variously stated. In the melee, Thos. Pyle was shot dead, and his father slightly wounded. The latter subsequently shot Dunham, dangerously wounding him. The surviving parties were, at last accounts under arrest.

A short time since, a German named Jacob Meisner, was murdered at Gibsonville, Sierra county, and robbed of a large amount of money. A few days after a Mexican, called "Charley the bull fighter," was arrested at Marysville, on suspicion of being concerned in the murder, and given over to the custody of the Sheriff of Sierra. On the arrival of the prisoner at Gibsonville, he was tried by the citizens, convicted, and hung in an hour afterward. He admitted that he knew who the murderers were, and named them, but denied any participation in the crime.

T. B. Wright, an emigrant from Racine, Wisconsin, was shot by another emigrant named John O'Meara, on the 31st ult., in Carson Valley, near the Mormon Station. The difficulty arose about picketing a mule.

On the night of the 9th inst., the Express Office of Wells Fargo & Co. at Sacramento, was robbed of 450 ounces of gold dust, valued at $8,000. The robber was supposed to be a Chinaman.

There are bands of Guerrillas lurking about portions of the country. At the head waters of Thom's Creek, in the Coast Range, Colusa county, a gang of ten or fifteen have been discovered and a party of men have started to oust them from their hiding place.

The Placer Times says:

"Our city is infested again with some desperate villians in the shape of highwaymen and murderers. Three men, apparently 'Sydney Ducks,' were arrested a few days ago by the police. Their names were "Big Bill," alias Powers, "Black Jack," alias Bowen, and "Cockney," alias George Wright. They were fully committed upon the charge of highway robbery, But the charge of attempt to murder, unfortunately, could not be substantiated. The plan commonly adopted by the villians is to "mug" their victim, which is done by throwing their arm under his chin and keeping his jaws closed by this means until he is robbed.

Mr. T. Gamble and Mr. T. C. Ryan, of Alton Ill., arrived at Sacramento on the 3d of Aug.—They left Missouri on the 22d of April. They started when there was but little grass and bo't feed for a long distance. These gentlemen lost 15 days by coming the way of Salt Lake instead of keeping the Sublette Cut Off. Flour was selling at 25 cents per lb. at Salt Lake, and scarce at that. The Humboldt was overflowed from bluff to bluff and grass was very scarce. Ferries were established over the creeks and rivers, but the emigrants had to take their wagons to pieces to get over, and were charged $5 per wagon.

A man by the name of O. Hinton has been arrested for the robbery of the mail in Ohio in '49, and is to be removed there for trial. He has been a part of the time since then in Cuba, and also in Oregon.

We presume this is the same Geo. O. Hinton who will be well remembered by many of our citizens, as an extensive mail contractor in this State, Ohio and Indiana.

☞ There will be a Woman' Rights' Convention held at Cleveland, on the 5th and 6th of October.

ANTI MAIN LAW MASS MEETING.—On Thursday night last the German citizens of Cincinnati met in conclave to strengthen their faith in opposition to the Main Law. About a thousand persons were present; and speeches were made in both the German and English tongues. Letters were read from two gentlemen, candidates for the State Senate, in which the writers were pledged to oppose "the letter and spirit of the liquor law." Several candidates for the Legislature appeared and expressed the same sentiments. The meeting was very disorderly and finally adjourned in disorder, the President and all hands going to Liquor.

THE CASE OF PATRICK SNEED.

The testimony elicited upon the trial of this man, who it will be recollected is the individual who was arrested at the falls, a few days ago upon a charge of murder, shows that a most shameful conspiracy has been formed to gain possession of Sneed, upon a fabricated charge of murder. The following is a brief statement of the facts relative to his arrest.

On the 12th or 13th of Aug (last month,) Constable Burdick, at the Falls, received a letter dated at Saratoga Springs, August 14th, and signed Alfred A. Jones, in which was enclosed a paper setting forth that a man named Malcolm Jones, of Savannah, Ga., was murdered July 16th 1849 and that a man named Patrick Sneed was presumed to be the murderer, and offering a reward for his arrest. In the letter accompanying, Officer Burdick was requested to make the arrest and the necessary proof to substantiate the guilt of the prisoner would be forthcoming. Mr. Burdick mailed an answer to this application on the 19th, in which he requested Mr. Alfred A. Jones to come on and give his evidence in the case in order that a legal process might be properly served. He received no answer to this letter at all. Shortly after, Officer Joseph K. Tyler, of this city, received a letter from this same Mr. Jones, asking him what he would ask to deliver Sneed, then at the Cataract House at the Falls, to him, at New York, Baltimore, or Savannah. Mr. Tyler replied by letter that he must come on and make affidavit to the fact of his being a murderer, and then that he would have full warrant to hold him in custody here. Mr. Jones then at New York, replied, urging him to make the arrest, and assuring him that if Sneed was convicted, he "would make it an advantageous job for him," (Tyler.) He also wished him to deliver the man in Baltimore, urging him, "to bring him along"—"to put him through." He said that he was aware that a requisition from the Governor of Georgia was necessary, but thought that Tyler might safely "put him through" upon his own responsibility.

The rest of the facts are known to our readers—the arrest at the Falls—the battle with the waiters, and the confinement of Sneed, at Buffalo.

The council for the prisoner, now goes back to 1849, and traces proceedings in the murder case from that time. The murder was committed on the 6th of July in that year. A few days after, advertisements appeared, offering $1,200 for the detection of the murderer.

In the spring of 1850, a Mr. Chas Follet of Newark, Ohio, an officer—district Attorney, we believe, in the county in which he resided—received information from a Mr Dilon, in Georgia that a man named Adam Mendenhall, was in the vicinity of Newark, who was guilty of the murder of Mr Jones, together with Patrick Sneed, and requesting him to arrest him and bring to Baltimore or Savannah, where the reward offered should be paid him, together with his expenses. Sneed he said was a waiter in Canada.

After repeated assurances on the part of Dilon, that it was "all right," that the reward would be promptly paid, and that Mendenhall was the murderer of Jones, and upon warrant under the requisition, Follet started for Baltimore with his prisoner. His suspicions had been aroused, however, that there was some plot beneath the whole, and these were confirmed to some extent when he heard, on his arrival at Baltimore, that Mendenhall was the slave of Mr. DeLeon, then one of the Editors of the Southern Press at Washington. Leaving his captive in the hands of a gentleman who came with him from Ohio, with strict instructions to go back to Ohio again if Dilon or his authorized agent did not appear, show proof of the mans guilt and pay the reward promised, Follet went on to Washington to see Mr. De Leon. He had gone south to his residence. He then wrote him respecting the man and the crime with which he was charged. He received a reply subsequently, in which Mr. De Leon declared Mendenhall to be his slave, and that, to his knowledge, he never had been charged with the crime of murder. Judge [illegible], of Savannah, also said, in answer to a letter of inquiry from Follet that he had never heard it intimated that Sneed or Mendenhall was the slayer of Mr. Jones (which the handbill received by the officer Tyler asserts them to be) and that if affidavits were made out charging them with murder, they were never made in any court that he knew of.

While Follet was at Washington, the agent of Mr. Dilon appeared and, giving security that the reward should be paid by the Governor of Georgia as soon as Mendenhall was convicted, induced the man whom Follet had left to surrender his prisoner, who was immediately taken south and has not since been heard from.

The connection of these facts with the present case is seen, when it is remembered that Sneed, now under arrest in our city, is coupled with Mendenhall as the murderer of Jones, in the handbills which have been used, and that Mendenhall was taken south as a fugitive slave, his owner denying that he was ever guilty of murder.

Another most significant fact is, that the handwriting of Mr. Dilon and Alfred E. Jones are precisely alike. Mr. Follet was shown the letters of Jones to Tyler, and pronounced them from the same pen that wrote letters to him signed Dilon. One peculiarity, especially, appears to fix the identity beyond a doubt. The character used to represent and (&) and the letter I, in both the letters of Jones and Dilon, are precisely alike, so that the context often has to be read to decide whether it is the letter 'I' or the word 'and' which the writer wishes to use. This peculiarity seems to make the source of the letters signed Jones and Dilon, one and the same man.

Mr. Cook, as council for the prisoner, contended that the whole detention here on the charge of murder, was for the purpose of getting time to secure "the right papers" to arrest Sneed as a fugitive slave.

He also argued that as there was not sufficient evidence to justify his detention he should be discharged. The Judge took the matter into consideration, and on the 9th inst ordered the prisoner to be discharged. He was taken in charge by his friends and at once shipped over to Canada.

POST OFFICE ROBBERY—FLIGHT OF THE ROBBER—SUBTILE ARREST OF PARTIES IMPLICATED, AND DISAPPOINTED LOVE.—Thos. Shallcross, Esq., Secret Mail Agent, and a resident of this city, aware that large sums of money have been frequently missed on the western mail route, has been endeavoring for some time to discover the depredators. Nevertheless, decoy letters and other means, as often failed to give a locality to the offence or a name to the adroit rascal. Difficulties were met at every step, and though complaints were loud, the affair continued to remain an inexplicable mystery, and seemed to mock investigation.

In March last, circumstances called for a renewed effort. One of our business men had as much as $600 abstracted from an envelope. He had wisely taken the precaution, however, to preserve a description of the bills forwarded.—Others, also, who suffered to the tune of but one hundred each, did likewise.

On a clue so slight, Mr. S. sprang to the work again, and by dint of subtile management, and an unconquering perseverance, finally alighted upon the guilty parties. From information received, he was led to believe that Ben. Eaton, Postmaster at Henrysburg, Belmont co., O., for many years, was the robber; and in company with Mr. Sangston, City Sergeant, he made a visit to that goodly village a or 3 days ago. He ascertained there that a hundred dollar note, peculiarly marked and identified as one of those lost, had been passed by Mr. Eaton's daughter upon a dry goods merchant. He thereupon set about the arrest of the parties. Reaching the premises, it was soon found, however, they had "smelt a rat" and fled.

After a moment's hesitation, Mr. Sangston concluded to return and Mr. Shallcross to give pursuit after John and his sister. By an examination of the various way bills, he tracked them to Zanesville. At that place they stated that they were bound for Logan county, but Mr. S. preferring to take the word of others who had an indistinct recollection of two persons answering their description, taking the other side of the bridge, he gave chase for Richland county.

Seven or eight miles travel brought to view a beautiful little cottage, before the door of which a gay and laughing group was assembled, cracking their jokes, and whiling away their time quite merrily. His keen eye soon detected the fugitives as part of the company, and walking into their midst, startled them with the announcement—"You are my prisoners." The ladies shrieked, and their male prisoners gazed, but justice is inexorable. This was on Saturday.

On Saturday night the officers and prisoners were in Henrysburgh, but "an old bird is not to be caught with chaff." Mr. Eaton had not returned, and is still at large.

The prisoners were taken to Steubenville yesterday, where they will be tried by Judge Leavitt. But the most heart-rending portion of the affair remains as yet to be told. Miss Eaton is young, handsome and intelligent, and was arranging her bridal dress, and designed marriage next week, with one of the wealthiest men in that section of the country. Alas! for human expectations! How soon our brightest hopes may wither within our grasp!

We fervently hope, for the sake of the sex that the principal in guilt may yet be captured, and that the children, who are doubtless ignorantly ensnared, can have an opportunity to wipe out, by a life of honesty, this stigma upon their youthful character.—Wheeling Gazette.

Hon. R. J. Walker's resignation of the Chinese mission has been accepted. The cause of his resignation is believed to be a remonstrance of his relatives against going, as his health does not improve as rapidly as promised, when he accepted the appointment. The appointment of a successor may be expected at an early day.

Important Arrests.

We alluded on Saturday to the arrest of one of our lumber dealers for cutting timber on the Government lands in Michigan, and his subsequent escape. The individual alluded to was Benjamin Bagnall, a lumber dealer in this city. He was indicted at the June term of the U. S. District Court of Michigan, charged with taking and appropriating timber from the government lands in that State. He was arrested by a U. S. Marshall at Manistee, but escaped in a small boat across the Manistee river, and came to Milwaukee. The Michigan government officers were advised of his arrival in this city, and the U. S. steamer Michigan (having been directed by the government to co-operate with the authorities to suppress this timber depredations) arrived at this port on Thursday last with Mr. Rice, the Marshall of Michigan. Upon presentation of a copy of the indictment by the U. S. District Court of Michigan, to the U. S. District Court of Wisconsin, Judge Miller granted a capias, Mr. Bagnall was again arrested and again escaped. On Saturday morning he delivered himself up. A writ of habeas corpus was thereupon granted by Judge Wells, of the Milwaukee County court. The deputy Marshal, C. C. Cotton, Esq., refused to obey the writ, and on Saturday afternoon was himself arrested and imprisoned for contempt of court, though we understand Mr. C was ready to make the return as soon as a copy of the indictment and capias could be made out. Messrs. Bagnall and Cotton are both in custody and the case will come before Judge Wells this morning. Some interesting points of conflicting jurisdiction are involved in this case, and its decision will define the duties and powers of the United States Marshall.—Milwaukee News.

PROBABLE ATTEMPT TO KIDNAP.—A great crowd was attracted last night by the appearance of a hack driven rapidly down Vine street toward the Covington ferry, and by the cries of a negro "He's stealing me, he's kidnapping me!" The negro was recognized as John Walkins, a freeman, and the crowd gathered numbers so rapidly that the person inside directed the carriage to turn around and head up street to allay the excitement. But the crowd gathered the faster as it turned, and swallowed up the coming persons, who followed the carriage up Race st., and told the negro to get off the box as he was not under arrest. This he attempted to do; but the hack driver held him and put whip to the horses. A gentleman of our acquaintance commanded the hackman to stop, and sprang to the horses' heads, which he held until knocked one side by a sudden plunge of the team; he then hurled boulders at the hack, and incited the crowd to do the same til the fellow was glad to halt at the corner of Seventh street and let the negro get off, when he goaded his horses to a gallop and escaped.

Walkins stated that he was lodged in a watch house on a false charge yesterday, until it was nearly dark, when he was let out without explanation; and on his way home he was seized at the corner, by men who said they were officers, taken to the Burnet House, and then toward the river, where he roused the citizens by his cries.

The whole affair will be investigated this or to-morrow morning. Some police officers are said to be implicated.—Cincinnati Commercial 9th.

ESCAPE OF PENITENTIARY CONVICTS.—We are informed that Capt. Cousins has received information from Jefferson City, in reference to the escape of some of the State Penitentiary Prisoners. Other particulars, excepting their names, which are also wanting, are about as follows:

Some parties of convicts were engaged at work outside of the walls, under the eye and direction of guards. While thus occupied, one detachment of them, numbering eight, took advantage of a moment when the eye of the guard, immediately near them, was turned in some other direction, and fled, three of them taking to the fields and woods, and five to the river bank. They plunged into the water and swam to the sand bar in the middle of the stream, one of them being drowned in the effort to reach it. They stopped to take breath, but perceiving that some of the citizens of the town were preparing to pursue them, again took water to swim to Callaway county shore. A second one of their number becoming exhausted in their effort was also drowned. The remaining three made the opposite bank safely, and continued their flight through the woods. They were subsequently captured in Callaway county.

The three convicts who took to the fields back of Jefferson City, it is supposed have made good their escape, as at last accounts they had not been intercepted.—St Louis Republican.

DREDGE CHANGE.—The United States has been building a Dredge at Milwaukee, for this city. The Milwaukee Free Democrat says it is now completed and is about to start for this city. It was built by D. S. Howard, of Lyonsdale, Lewis county, N. Y. Her dimensions are—length of keel, 110 feet; 26 feet beam, 7½ feet guards, and 6 foot hold, with an engine of 40 horse power.

☞ We call attention to an advertisement, in another column, of two remedies; one for "Fever and Ague," and the other for "Bowel Complaint," prepared under the direction of the University of Free medicine and Popular Knowledge, and issued by order of the Board of Trustees, from its Laboratory in Philadelphia.

As everything originating from this institution will emanate from Medical Graduates of enlarged experience, and high scientific attainments, we have every reason to believe that all remedies prepared under its sanction will be worthy of implicit confidence with the public as well as the medical profession.

☞ Bullard's Panorama of New York City was exhibited at South Bend yesterday, and will remain there through to-day. It will be in La Port to-morrow and Thursday and arrive in this city on Friday. It has met with great success during its journey West. Over 15,000 persons visited it in Kalamazoo, during the two days it remained at that place.

BERDAN'S GOLD QUARTZ MACHINE.

We have heretofore noticed the splendid fortune ($50,000) which our old friend and quondam fellow citizens, H. Berdan has realized from his Patent Gold Quartz Machine, but we have never been able to get a comprehensive description of the machine itself, until now. Some one has forwarded us a pamphlet, published by the company which bought Mr. Berdans Patent for the U. S. and which contains a very good engraving of the form and operation of the machine. It is very simple, being nothing more than a large cast iron basin, two feet deep, and seven feet in diameter, suspended by a shaft in the centre, at an angle of thirty degrees. In the lower part of the basin a cast iron ball, weighing 5,000 lbs. is placed and when the basin is set in motion by the turning of the shaft, the lowest point rolls in the opposite direction.

The process is to put into the basin a certain amount of quicksilver, then the quartz, and start the machinery, which drives the shaft that suspends the basin. The rolling of the ball crushes the quartz most thoroughly, and all but the gold rises to the top of the quicksilver, the latter having greater specific gravity than the rock.

The machine has been thoroughly tested in North Carolina, and gives entire satisfaction. The price of each one is $3,000 and it is a remarkable fact that 200 ($600,000 worth) have already been sold.

Miners of quartz gold say that the machine will turn out 25 per cent. more gold than any other process now known. If it does possess this merit, Mr. Berdan deserves his fortune.

ARRIVED.—The U. S. iron steamer Michigan, Capt. A. Bigelow commanding, arrived at this port at 4 o'clock on Sunday afternoon, from a cruise on Lake Michigan. She is last from Milwaukee.

MARINE.—The propellers Milwaukee and Delaware, arrived at Buffalo on Saturday forenoon from this port; also, the propeller Gen. Taylor, from Detroit. The propeller Saginaw and brig J. R. Giddings, both cleared the same day for Chicago.

CANAL BOAT SUNK.—Yesterday, says the Rochester Union, of the 7th inst., at 2 P. M., the bull head boat "J. Magill," of Chicago, sunk in the Erie Canal, just below St. Paul street bridge.—We understand that the boat was lying to the heel-path, to pass a large boat, and struck a rock, which caused her to fill immediately. The cargo of the Magill was 5,878 bushels of oats, most of which were submerged. Capt. Rigney was promptly at hand with the State Scow, and commencing removing the cargo from the sunken boat. Boats will not be detained long by the accident, as there is room to pass the sunken boat, except at such times as the State Scow is engaged in taking out the cargo.

FOR ST. LOUIS.—It will be seen by advertisement that the staunch and fast running steamer Hartsville, Capt. Hughes, will leave La Salle this afternoon for St. Louis, on the arrival of the morning train from this city.

STARTED AGAIN!—The Engine was started in the "Eagle Works" of P. W. Gates & Co., yesterday. To-day labor is to be resumed in nearly all of the departments.

To Citizens of Chicago.

CHICAGO, Sept. 3, 1853.—109 Randolph st.

It is assumed that Barber shops have been kept open on the Sabbath day through all ages of the world. Now granting this to be true, let us examine a little into the origin of this practice, and see whether it was necessary to do so in order to shave men, or the result of some other cause. It is well known to most men, that in olden times the Barber's business consisted of four different branches,—namely, Leaching, Bleeding, Tooth drawing and shaving, and hence, owing to this connection, it became necessary to keep their shops open on Sundays as public benefactors, to relieve the sick, &c.—They were, in consequence of this fact, compelled to be constantly at their post. A combination of these several branches rendered the profession a profitable one, and of course commanded the strictest attention. The shaving branch, however, was always of minor consideration, and but for the other branches barber shops would not have been kept open on the Sabbath day, any more then a Blacksmith or Carpenter shop. And here I will say that the above unnatural connection of branches gave rise to the peculiar Barbers sign, the striped pole, and instead of paint they used a bloody string wrapped around a stick, and hung it at their doors, to represent Leaching, Bleeding, Tooth drawing and Shaving. Now, since shaving and hair cutting has become a separate and distinct business, from that of the former, I can see no good reason why we, as a class, should not be allowed one day in seven, in common with the rest of men. I ask for the Sabbath day, because it is the day of rest, made so by the great moral law giver, and acknowledged by this, and all other enlightened nations; and so sacred that our chief Magistrate dares not to take the oath of office on the 4th of March, should that day fall upon the Sabbath. Thus, sometimes for a day we are without a President.

The Sabbath is a day observed both by Christian and infidel, unless forced to work by some combination of circumstances.

In view of these facts, and believing that the public will sustain me in an honest effort to reform this inexcusable evil, I have determined not to open my shop on Sundays, and therefore give those in my employ and ourselves an opportunity to attend public worship, or dispose of our time as we may otherwise wish.

DREDGE COMPLETED.—The United States has been building a Dredge at Milwaukee, for this city. The Milwaukee Free Democrat says it is now completed and is about to start for this city. It was built by D. S. Howard, of Lyonsdale, Lewis county, N. Y. Her dimensions are—length of keel, 110 feet; 26 feet beam, 7½ feet guards, and 9 feet hold, with an engine of 80 horse power.

We call attention to an advertisement, in another column, of two remedies; one for "Fever and Ague," and the other for "Bowel Complaint," prepared under the direction of the University of Free medicine and Popular Knowledge, and issued by order of the Board of Trustees, from its Laboratory in Philadelphia.

As everything originating from this instution will emanate from Medical Graduates of enlarged experience, and high scientific attainments, we have every reason to believe that all remedies prepared under its sanction will be worthy of implicit confidence with the public as well as the medical profession.

Bullard's Panorama of New York City was exhibited at South Bend yesterday, and will remain there through to-day. It will be in La Porte to-morrow and Thursday and arrive in this city on Friday. It has met with great success during its journey West. Over 15,000 persons visited it at Kalamazoo, during the two days it remained at that place.

BERDAN'S GOLD QUARTZ MACHINE.

We have heretofore noticed the splendid fortune ($50,000) which our old friend and quondam fellow citizen, H. Berdan has realized from his Patent Gold Quartz Machine, but we have never been able to get a comprehensive description of the machine itself, until now. Some one has forwarded us a pamphlet, published by the company which bought Mr. Berdans Patent for the U. S. and which contains a very good engraving of the form and operation of the machine. It is very simple, being nothing more than a large cast iron basin, two feet deep, and seven feet in diameter, suspended by a shaft in the centre, at an angle of thirty degrees. In the lower part of the basin a cast iron ball, weighing 3,000 lbs, is placed and when the basin is set in motion by the turning of the shaft, the lowest point rolls in the opposite direction.

The process is to put into the basin a certain amount of quicksilver, then the quartz, and start the machinery, which drives the shaft that suspends the basin. The rolling of the ball crushes the quartz most thoroughly, and all but the gold rises to the top of the quicksilver, the latter having greater specific gravity than the rock.

The machine has been thoroughly tested in North Carolina, and gives entire satisfaction. The price of each one is $3,000 and it is a remarkable fact that 200 ($600,000 worth) have already been sold.

Miners of quartz gold say that the machine will turn out 25 per cent. more gold than any other process now known. If it does possess this merit, Mr. Berdan deserves his fortune.

ARRIVED.—The U. S. iron steamer Michigan, Capt. A. Bigelow commanding, arrived at this port at 4 o'clock on Sunday afternoon, from a cruise on Lake Michigan. She is last from Milwaukee.

MARINE.—The propellers Milwaukee and Delaware, arrived at Buffalo on Saturday forenoon from this port; also, the propeller Gen. Taylor, from Detroit. The propeller Saginaw and brig J. R. Giddings, both cleared the same day for Chicago.

CANAL BOAT SUNK.—Yesterday, says the Rochester Union, of the 7th inst., at 2 P. M., the bull head boat "J. Magill," of Chicago, sunk in the Erie Canal, just below St. Paul street bridge.—We understand that the boat was lying to the heel path, to pass a large boat, and struck a rock, which caused her to fill immediately. The cargo of the Magill was 5,878 bushels of oats, most of which were submerged. Capt. Rigney was promptly at hand with the State Scow, and commencing removing the cargo from the sunken boat. Boats will not be detained long by the accident, as there is room to pass the sunken boat, except at such times as the State Scow is engaged in taking out the cargo.

FOR ST. LOUIS.—It will be seen by advertisement that the staunch and fast running steamer Hartsville, Capt. Hughes, will leave La Salle this afternoon for St. Louis, on the arrival of the morning train from this city.

STARTED AGAIN!—The Engine was started in the "Eagle Works" of P. W. Gates & Co., yesterday. To-day labor is to be resumed in nearly all of the departments.

COURT OF COMMON PLEAS.—The September term of this Court, Judge J. M. Wilson, opened its session yesterday morning in the Grand Jury room—the Court room being occupied by the Recorder's Court. The Grand Jury was empanelled, when the court adjourned, to meet this morning at 9 o'clock in the regular court room. There is not much business before the court, and the session will be short.

The following gentlemen comprise the Grand Jury for this term:

Norman Rexford, Foreman; Myron Thurston, John J. Russell, M. N. Kimball, Joshua S. Sackett, Martin Beanneau, Andrew Neilson, Jacob Beidler, Daniel Day, Ira Reynolds, George Jackson, Henry O. Loveli, Wm. Swain, S. C. Kelsey, Reuben Taylor, Wm. Carrigan, Charles Douglass, Michael McGuire, H. B. Bager.

The cricket match between the Chicago and Milwaukee Clubs will come off to morrow forenoon on the prairie, near Bull's Head. "Services" to commence at 10 o'clock.

ROUTE AGENT.—Jonathan Kimball Esq. of Elgin, has been appointed, by the Post Master General, Route Agent on the Chicago and Galena Railroad.

The Board of Supervisors for Cook County met at their room in the Court House yesterday afternoon at 2 o'clock. After calling the roll, and making a few motions, the Board adjourned to meet this morning at 9 o'clock.

AID TO NEW ORLEANS.—The total amount of funds received by the Mayor up to 8 o'clock last evening, was $3,966 37. Among the contributions not before reported in our columns are the following:

W. W. Danenhower, 2d Ward on collections ... $34 00

BARNUM AT MILWAUKEE.—P. T. Barnum made a speech at Milwaukee, last evening. He is to speak in various parts of the State before the election. The Temperance question is creating a great amount of excitement in Milwaukee, particularly among the Germans.

ROBBERY IN CHICAGO, AND ARREST OF THE THIEF IN WASHINGTON CO.—Officer Meloy, receiving information, on Friday last, that a robbery had been committed on the American Car Manufacturing Company in Chicago, and that there was strong grounds for believing the property, consisting of a large number of tools—some of them of a valuable kind—had been brought to this city, succeeded in tracing the thieves to a house near Port Ulao, between the lake and river, in Washington Co. The lost property was found there, and a man named Wm. Ranken was arrested and taken back to Chicago. Ranken was formerly in the employ of the Car Co., and the tools were found in his possession.—Milwaukee Sentinel, 12th.

WAUKEGAN HARBOR.—Yesterday we examined a map, prepared by Mr. Gamble, U. S. Harbor Agent, showing the present depth of water in front of Waukegan from the shore to the distance of 1,000 feet into the lake. The sounding were taken from several points, commencing at the shore, and going into the lake. The object of the examination was to furnish the Topographical Bureau with correct information in reference to the harbor, in order that it might determine, understandingly, the most judicious manner of expending the $15,000 lately appropriated by Congress for that purpose. We notice that a breakwater is recommended to protect the anchorage from the heavy seas that always roll in toward the shore, during Northern or Eastern gales.

CHICAGO AND MILWAUKEE MARKETS.—Why is it that the price of Wheat in the Chicago market is from eight to fifteen cents above that of Milwaukee? If our sister city does not show better figures in such matters, she must not expect to get much grain from Wisconsin after our Rail Roads are completed.

DR. McLANE'S Celebrated Vermifuge and Liver Pills.

A singular combination, but very effectual, as the following will show:

NEW YORK, November 20, 1852.

Knowing, from experience the valuable qualities of Dr. McLane's Vermifuge and Liver Pills, I have for some time back considered it my duty, and made it my business, to make those articles known wherever I went among my friends. A short time ago, I became acquainted with the case of a young girl, who seemed to be troubled with worms and liver complaint at the same time, and had been suffering for some two months. Through my persuasion she purchased one bottle of Dr. McLane's Vermifuge, and one box of Liver Pills, which she took according to directions. The result was, she passed a large quantity of worms, and thinks that one box more of the Pills will restore her to perfect health. Her name and residence can be learned by calling on E. L. Theall, Druggist, corner of Rutger and Monroe sts.

P. S.—Dr. McLane's celebrated Vermifuge and Liver Pills can both be obtained at any of the respectable Drug Stores in this city.

Purchasers will please be careful to ask for, and take none but Dr. McLane's Vermifuge and Liver Pills.—There are other Vermifuges and Pills now before the public, but all are comparatively worthless.

RIOT AT SOMERSET.

ZANESVILLE, Sept. 7.—Advices from Somerset, Perry county, Ohio, give us intelligence of a terrible riot in that place. The origin we cannot learn precisely. The Irish laborers on the Railroad have the fire arms belonging to the county in their possession. Two persons were killed, and several badly wounded.

The Sheriff of Perry county has sent here for one hundred armed men, and one of our military companies, the City Guards, under Capt. Graham, have just started for the scene of disturbance. More trouble is anticipated. The life of the telegraph operator, in said town, had been threatened, should he transmit any requests for assistance.

We learn the row commenced in Welch's Circus, last night, but cannot give particulars.—Ohio State Jour.
